Emptiness & Brightness Don Cupitt,2001 If new Platos or Buddhas were to appear today what would they say about the nature of reality the human condition and the way to happiness The period 800 200 b c e the so called Axial Age was the time when Old World pioneering philosophers and religious teachers laid down the basic ideas by which people have been living ever since Today those great religious and cultural traditions are coming to an end We are entering a new Axial Age Don Cupitt observes that this second Axial Age is one of communication Everything is accessible to everyone and everyone can make a contribution The world is therefore made and remade not by the individual genius but by a change in the general consensus Cupitt describes the emergent religion and philosophy of the new Axial Period in clear and accessible language He predicts that while it may seem very strange at first we will learn to love it
