Flowers And Their Messages:

Flowers and Their Messages Mother, 1992 Flowers have a very special place in the life of men and perhaps more so in the life of the devotees of Sri Aurobindo and The Mother In the Ashram the Mother used flowers as a help to the Sadhaks in their Sadhana I give you flowers she once told to a sadhak so that you may develop the Divine qualities they symbolise In this book more than eight hundred flowers have been given by their botanical names along with their spiritual names and significances as revealed by the Mother Almost each page of this book contains select passages from the writings of Sri Aurobindo and the Mother which help the readers to a deeper understanding of the silent messages of this beautiful creation of the nature Though primarily a book of the Mother Sri Aurobindo's touch is invariably felt since the spiritual significances of the flowers correspond to his incisive psychological analysis of the different planes of human consciousness and parts of the being Beautifully produced this unique book is a gracious benediction of the Mother and will be cherished as a treasure by all who love flowers

Flowers and Their Messages Sri Aurobindo Ashram Trust, The Language of Flowers Beverly Seaton, 2012-10-10 The author traces the phenomenon of ascribing sentimental meaning to floral imagery from its beginnings in Napoleonic France through its later transformations in England and America At the heart of the book is a depiction of what the three most important flower books from each of the countries divulge about the period and the respective cultures Seaton shows that the language of flowers was not a single and universally understood correlation of flowers to meanings that men and women used to communicate in matters of love and romance The language differs from book to book country to country To place the language of flowers in social and literary perspective the author examines the nineteenth century uses of flowers in everyday life and in ceremonies and rituals and provides a brief history of floral symbolism She also discusses the sentimental flower book a genre especially intended for female readers Two especially valuable features of the book are its table of correlations of flowers and their meanings from different sourcebooks and its complete bibliography of language of flower titles This book will appeal not only to scholars in Victorian studies and women's studies but also to art historians book collectors museum curators historians of horticulture and anyone interested in nineteenth century popular culture

Plant Lives Ellison Banks Findly, 2008 This book examines for the first time those threads in Indian thought that present a prolife view of plants Using texts from Vedic Hindu Jain and Buddhist traditions the author argues that there is strong support in early materials that plants are thought to be alive to be sentient and have the one sense of touch to feel pleasure and pain to have an interior consciousness and to be bearers of karma Moreover while plants are traditionally thought to be of tamasic quality with their immobility and dullness they are sometimes described as sattvic with their calmness even mindedness and service to others In fact the author argues plants are frequently used to provide a model for the practiced ascetic in that they bend but don t break with the wind aren t distracted when buzzed by a mosquito and flourish in their steadfastness Given the theoretical discussion of plants within the range of sentient being the book then focus on the intimate life humans have with plants Texts devoted to botany medicine law art literature and religion for example depict human conversation with trees humans marrying trees and humans delineating their responsibilities for the well being of plants in the greatest detail Most difficult is the problem of eating and in that ahimsa or non violence towards plants would be the ideal in the extreme vegetarianism shows up the compromise that is made once plants are brought into the sentient realm Finally the author explores the founding premises of several current environmental leaders and movements in India that focus on plants e g tree protection tree planting seed saving biodiversity to examine whether contemporary plant oriented ecological activism in India reflects older traditional ideas about plants Asking whether new Hindu Jain or Buddhist movements reflect respective older ideas the author finds that contemporary Indian practices remain on the whole authentic reflections of their older roots
