Heating Services in Buildings David E. Watkins, 2011-09-26. Water based heating systems are efficient, flexible, versatile and offer many advantages over other heating systems. These advantages: fast response, good controllability, efficient zonal heating and largely silent operation all require that initial design, installation, commissioning and maintenance be carried out to a high standard by competent engineers. Heating Services in Buildings provides the reader with a detailed and thorough understanding of the principles and elements of heating buildings using modern water based heating systems. A key theme of the book is that there is little difference in the approach to the design and engineering between domestic and commercial installations. The author's detailed but highly practical approach to the subject ensures there is sufficient information for students from both a craft background and those with more academic backgrounds to understand the material. This approach is complemented by straightforward, easy to use diagrams. Heating Services in Buildings supports a range of educational courses including degree level building services engineering, NVQ Level 4 Higher Professional Diploma in Building Services Engineering, City Guilds supplementary heating course and the Heating Design and Installation Course accredited by the European Registration Scheme (ERS).

This will ensure that the best form of control systems for the building is specified and that proper provision is made for its installation, commissioning, operation and maintenance. There are chapters on the practical design of control systems, how to work from the hardware components and their inclusion in networks through to control strategies in Heating, Ventilation and Air Conditioning (HVAC) systems and whole buildings. The relationship between Building Management Systems (BMS) and information technology systems is discussed and the building procurement process and the importance of considering control requirements at an early stage in the design process CIBSE Guide Chartered Institution of Building Services Engineers,1974 Environmental Design ,2006 Provides a premier source for designers of low energy sustainable buildings This work features contents that acknowledge and satisfy the Energy Performance of Buildings Directive and UK legislation specifically the 2006 Building Regulations Approved Documents L and F It includes supplementary information on CD ROM
