In a new approach to Goethe's Faust I Evanghelia Stead extensively discusses Moritz Retzsch's twenty six outline prints 1816 and how their spin offs made the unfathomable play available to larger reader communities through copying and extensive distribution circuits including bespoke gifts The images amply transformed as they travelled throughout Europe and overseas revealing differences between countries and cultures but also their pliability and resilience whenever remediated This interdisciplinary investigation evidences the importance of print culture throughout the nineteenth and early twentieth centuries in nations involved in competition and conflict Retzsch's foundational set crucially engenders parody and inspires the stage literature and three dimensional objects well beyond common perceptions of print culture's influence This book is available in open access thanks to an Institut Universitaire de France IUF grant
