

Objectives

This chapter deals with the system that transports blood to and from various cardiovascular systems. It illustrates the major organs of the cardiovascular system and explains the function of each organ (objectives 1) to 10). Explain the location, structure, and function of the parts of the heart and the major types of blood vessels and associated structures (1 and 2). It explains the pulmonary, systemic, and coronary circuits of the cardiovascular system and the major vessels in each circuit (objectives 3, 4, and 5). This chapter discusses the cellular basis and functions associated with circulation. It illustrates how blood pressure is created and controlled, and the mechanisms that allow for the return of venous blood to the heart (objectives 6 and 7).

Study of the cardiovascular system is essential for understanding how each part of the body is supplied with the materials it needs to survive.
